

Douglas Wallace has been recognised in New York as one of the world's top retail store designers. Douglas Wallace was selected from over 170 other award candidates among the 1,000 strong membership of the Retail Design Institute. The Irish firm was awarded first place in the service retail category for its interior design of Peter Mark's Mary Street salon and the company also received the award for first place in the Convenience Store category for the Go Fresh retail store in Dublin's Tara Street Station. Pictured in New York's iconic Grand Central Station were (l-r): Tom Cusack, Director Americas for Enterprise Ireland with Adrian Lambe and Brian Jennings, both directors, Douglas Wallace Architects.