

Chamber to discuss development

Dundalk Chamber's next conference on Tuesday June 10th in the Park Inn will focus on planning and developing the town centre for the north east.

It will be development led, trader focused and consumer satisfying, say the chamber.

It will give all relevant stakeholders the chance to hear key speakers articulate their vision for Dundalk.

Topics and speakers include "The future for retailers: who are they, where do they fit in?' led by Bob Fisher, Director of Colliers, Scotland; and then Douglas Wallace will reflect on 'The key challenges to make it happen for Dundalk' and Manuel Garrido of Keith Simpson & Associates will reflect his findings on how he sees Dundalk's quarters shaping up.

The aim of this conference is to put to the delegates, the outputs from the lines and critical path issues that will make the difference to land the growth prizes to sustain and regenerate this region - Gateway Dundalk.

Participants will include architects, builders, developers, investors and representatives from the financial, retail and tourism sectors along with business organisations both north and south.
